

Diplomado en maestría de educación superior

Autores: Lic. Carlos Marcelo Casso López

Ing. Claudia Bazán Ortega

Abstract

The present work has as purpose check the governmental, national and departmental policies related to the agricultural production, which will allow to have a global idea and analyze the local capacities (municipal government, private agents, social organizations) for the management, administration of some services of the agricultural sector, in order to promote the rural and agricultural development, in the context of the processes of decentralization and civil participation in Bolivia.

For such an effect, they were realized you interview different informants of the area of government, police officer, private, public institutions and civil society, resorting to structured questions related to the rural development and the role that the same ones fulfill in this context, this way also we resort to secondary sources like publications, articles and related documentation the topic.

Keyword

Production, strategies, rural development,