

El incumplimiento del término de prueba, ocasiona retardación en la sustanciación de procesos internos administrativos de la Caja Nacional de Salud

Maestría en seguridad social y gestión pública

Clotilde Bohórquez Flores

Abstract

This work, entitled the "slowdown the processes internal in case national's health", develops mainly taking into account that the institution, since quite some time ago has been supporting a systematic attack, not only of the insured population, the authorities of the Central and others outside the institution, which deepens the discrediting of the first entity insurance of the country more, due to the lack of timely clarification of the alleged administrative violations by officials of the institution, as a result of a clear slowdown in the conduct of internal administrative processes by those who lead. So it is to this work, avoid slowdown in the conduct of internal administrative processes that are vented in the national health fund, given that to date, it is extremely broad term test which leads to discontinuity and lack of control in their pursuit. And, put in evidence the breach as set forth in the current legal regulations, i.e. failure to comply from the calculation of the end of test by the sumariantes who develop their task as above, the absence of any higher level that monitor them, and must in all case intervene in such inspection mainly Honorable directory of the entity, the entity's executives and ultimately the General Comptroller of the State and entity guardian who exercises tuition on the national health fund.

Key words: institution, slowdown, administrative processes, national health fund